

Fairfax County Elementary School Students Who Speak a Slavic Language at Home September 2012

| Slavic Languages Spoken at Home by Fairfax County Elementary School Students |                |                |
|--|----------------|----------------|
| Language   | Total Students | % Total Slavic |
| Russian  | 549            | 67.4%          |
| Serbo-Croatian   | 76             | 9.3%           |
| Polish   | 63             | 7.7%           |
| Bulgarian  | 39             | 4.8%           |
| Ukrainian  | 28             | 3.4%           |
| Czech  | 24             | 2.9%           |
| Slovak   | 18             | 2.2%           |
| Macedonian   | 9              | 1.1%           |
| Slovene  | 9              | 1.1%           |
| Slavic Total   | 815            | 100%           |

Source: <sup>1</sup>Fairfax County Public Schools, 2012

Russian is the most commonly spoken Slavic language by Fairfax County elementary school students<sup>1</sup>

Slavic languages are primarily spoken in Russia and Eastern Europe